The Central Penn Business Journal has named Saxton & Stump CEO James W. Saxton to its 2024 “Power 30” list for law professionals in the region.

This is the fourth time Saxton has made the list in the four years the publication has released it. Earlier this year, Saxton previously made the publication’s annual “Power 100” list for the fourth time in its fourth year of release. The Power 100 list highlights the most influential people in the central Pennsylvania business community.
