Madison S. Meiser is an associate in the Saxton & Stump Business and Corporate Group, working out of the firm's York office. She counsels clients on essential business decisions and operations such as entity formation, financing, growth, sales, acquisitions, and others. She came to Saxton & Stump in 2025 with other professionals from the former York County law firm Stock & Leader.

Madison graduated from the Thomas R. Kline School of Law at Drexel University, with a concentration in both Business and Intellectual Property and received her undergraduate degree in psychology and legal studies from Elizabethtown College. While in school, she interned at the Pennsylvania Office of the Attorney General and the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission, and clerked at a Montgomery County-based intellectual property law firm, giving her experience with the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office matters. Additionally, she interned with in-house counsel at a global technology company, giving her experience in corporate and intellectual property matters from an in-house perspective.
