Jennifer S. Snyder focuses her practice on complex litigation matters and is a member of the Appellate Advocacy group. She has participated in national multidistrict litigation cases, including mass torts and federal antitrust class action lawsuits. She also has experience representing clients in medical negligence cases and advising hospitals on risk management issues.

In addition, Jennifer is a member of the Investigations, White Collar and Criminal Defense group and served on the team of the court-appointed special investigator, Hon. Lawrence F. Stengel (Ret.), in the National Football League's Concussion Settlement Program. She also regularly collaborates with Judge Stengel in his varied roles as a mediator, expert witness, and court-appointed special master in federal litigation.

Jennifer is also a member of the Insurance Law group, whose members regularly counsel insureds and insurers on policy interpretation, coverage questions and insurance bad faith.

Jennifer's practice leverages her experience in legal research, analysis, writing, factfinding and critical thinking.

Prior to joining Saxton & Stump, Jennifer practiced with RodaNast and Roda Law, two prominent plaintiff-side litigation firms.
